Class History

In February 1933, eleven happy, ambitious girls found themselves in a new environment with new worlds to conquer. In October this group was reenforced by thirty-eight who were the Junior members of the class of '36.

After an orgy of six months of intensive supervised training - both practical and theoretical - we were called one by one before our superior officer, Miss Crighton, to learn that we had successfully mounted the first landing. In recognition of this progress we were given our stripes and our first caps. Pride and happiness mingled with a consciousness of greater responsibility, both to patient and to school, served as an incentive to urge us on our way. Just as in all other undertakings a few of our group dropped by the wayside during the first interval.

The summer months passed quickly. We saw our first graduating class attain their final goal and wondered if we, too, would some day reach those heights. Vacation renewed our energy, gave us strength and courage to encounter the second year.

Some of the hardships with which we successfully battled during this year were: Night Duty, Operating room training, classes in Obstetrics, Pediatrics, Medicine, etc. A second landing in our Journey was reached - another year is over and we had our senior cuffs.

That third year passed all too quickly - with senior duties. More responsibility and more special training - Sheppard, until at last our final goal is attained. In June 1936 we, twenty-six, were graduated, donned our white unit forms and Nightingales, and now as full fledged registered nurse we are still young, healthy, and ambitious, and we always "Aim Higher".

Grace Lindsay

Margaret Tressa DeLawter
 Williamsport, Md.
 "Tress"

Energetic and bouyant, Tress is an incentive to younger nurses who look to older girls for an example of an excellent nurse. She has worked to make our class what it is. We extend our best wishes for a successful future.

Mary Eleanor Fowble
 Upperco, Md.
 "Fowble"

Mary seems to think "all work and no play makes on a dull person" for she has intermingled play with work. She has made many friends by her cheerful personality and we hope the future has "the unexpected" in store for her.

Marion Elizabeth Heilman
Weirton, W. Va.

"Heilman"

A girl with an infectious giggle, a ~~an~~ ever sense of humor, an all round good sport, and extremely loyal to her friends. Best wishes for happiness in her profession.

Mary Olree Knoeller
Waverly, Va.

"Mary"

Independent that's

Mary. Not only a good worker but says what she thinks. Keep it up and good luck.

Anne Jessup O'Sullivan
Hartford, N.C.

"Anne"

"You can if you think you can" is her motto. An ever pleasing personality and winning ways is a pal to all. When you hear,
"Oh my" you know it is Anne.

Della Pauline Riley
Emmitsburg, Md.
"Del"

Dependable and understanding, on duty and off. A valued friend to everyone especially to us. Much more happiness ahead, Del.

Lucile Gordon Thomas
Jefferson, S.C.
"Tomy"

Full of fun and always ready to help everyone.
Well-liked by all. Although living here for three years she has retained her southern drawl.

Vernice Lee Bowling
Elm City, N.C.
"Bowling"

Reliable and willing to see the tasks completed and a true friend to all. Continue your worthy traits, Vernice.

Nina Sterling Claiborne

Kingstreet, S.C.

"Nina"

As changeable as the Baltimore weather, glories in a good argument with remarkable endurance. A capable worker when in the mood.

Frances Emily Connelly

Rising Sun, Md.

"Sue"

"Sue's" friendship is like a precious stone - hard to acquire but worth every ounce of energy.

Loyal and true to her ideals, hers is a mind not to be changed by argument without reason. Stick to your colors.

Ruth Elizabeth Dodson
Baltimore, Md.

"Betty"

Will always be remembered by her whimsical and sympathetic ways. The saying, "the little things in life", may be applied for only we know Betty's kind-hearted words.

Angela Rose Dooley
Linthicum Heights, Md.
"Angela".

To know her is to love
her. Quietness, calmness, poise, and willingness have made her a friend and a helpmate long to be remembered. We feel assured she will be a success in whatever she undertakes.

Norma Louise Johannas
Pekin, Ill.

"Josephine"

May be far from home
but she ~~sings~~ the "blues" away and if you want to know the latest song
just ask her.

Mary Catherine Ketauer
Smithsburg, Md.

"Kay"

Good goods come in small packages but Kay is an exception. With as many friends as the night has stars, her ever winning ways and good sportmanship will never be forgotten.

Grace Elizabeth Lindsay
Lexington, N.C.

"Grace".

A friend in need is a friend indeed. Capable and always willing to lend a helping hand characterizes Lindsay. We know she will rise to the top before long so good luck - Grace.

Doris Gillespie Lloyd
Whiteford Md.

"Doris"

When you hear a continuous chuckle you know Doris is around, a great little worker is she and efficient too.

Sophie Ann Lubinski
Baltimore, Md.

"Ann"

An easy-going person
with a carefree manner,
"tomboy characteristics," and
an aptitude for memorizing.

Annabelle Magaha
Frederick, Md.

"Pete"

Pete may come from a farm but she is true to her character, defending her friends when necessary.
Her friendly smile to all and blue eyes remind us of shamrocks.

Hazel Almeda Miller
Fawn Grove, Penn.
"Millie"

Millie is blithe, good, and gay. Her sparkling eyes and devilish laughter has made her very popular. Watch out for the "Big Bad Wolfe".

Charlotte Fisher Myers.
Baltimore, Md.
"Myers"

Open the lid and out springs "Myers" the lass with a hidden personality.
Only those who know her can sense those qualities which have endeared her to us.

Marguerite Odom
 Asheville, N. C.
 "Rita"

The ideal Southern girl with all the charms, looking on the bright side of life, simple and understanding
 in her ways.

Margaret Bowen Rose
 Atlanta, Georgia.

"Rose"

Her gentleness, kindness and thoughtfulness will always be remembered.
 Ever conscious of the
 "little things in life"
 and after all that is what counts.

Florence Beryl Smith
Marlington, W. Va.
"Fannie"

Hard to know, but a true pal to her friends,
full of fun and ready to greet you with a joke.

Frances Tayloe
Athoskie, N.C.
"Giggles"

An all around good port, always ready for a good time and rarely repressed. Will always be remembered for her foolishness in some things and that contagious laugh.

Virginia Date Courtney Wicker
Danville, Virginia.

"Date"

A good sport and true pal to us all, though always in a hurry wears a smile and a cheery "hello" to everyone. A long way from home she seems contented and it's a secret why she likes Taneytown better than Baltimore.

Ruby Jean Thompson
Logan, W. Va.
"Tomy"

Tiny but dainty that's prim little Tomy with those funny ideas of her own but always ready for anything.

Class Prophecy.

On a cold rainy day in November in the Year of 1946 a soul with a humanitarian expression started on its way to heaven. Reaching the golden gates giving the friendly tap, St. Peter appeared saying "I can tell by your expression you are a nurse - No nurses in heaven".

"No I am not a nurse. I entered training with the class of '36 at the University of Maryland Hospital in Baltimore but became a quitter because I thought I would not like it. If there are no nurses in heaven where are my former classmates?"

A smile came over his face. Stroking his beard he called Gabriel to bring him the volume of the nurses of 1936. After leafing several pages he suddenly stopped - U. of M. was in golden letters at the top of the page. "Here are the names - now for the telescope."

"Well, let's see now. Do you remember Grace Lindsay? Look through here. There she is superintendent of nurses at the U. of M. Hospital and seems quite efficient, and I see on the staff Anne O'Sullivan, O.R. Supervisor, and Della Riley, supervisor in O.B. Department and now she is giving her farewells to a former classmate who was Lucille Thomas, now the proud mother of twins. It is going to be a mighty cold trip to Maine for those babes."

"Hm. That's what I thought," said the soul. Looking more closely through the telescope he frowned.

"Ah! A friendly argument I see between the children of the former Virginia Wicker and Hazel Miller."

Focusing the telescope on Baltimore in the porter section, he exclaimed, "Look isn't that Angela Dooley and Marguerite Odom trudging along? Looks like they are doing Public Health Work."

"So it is," said the soul.

"Oh, by the way Mary Catharine Kefauver has become quite famous nurse in the Army Corps."

"I'll let you take a peep now, Soul."

"Oh my, if there isn't Vina Claiborne and Betty Dodson capped in Nightingales walking from the nurses home to the hospital. What hospital is that, St. Peter?"

"Oh, that's a mental hospital."

Regulating the lens for a greater distance, "I see the land is white with snow. St. Peter, we must have reached Alaska and look there's a dog sled. My aren't they traveling fast. Quick, St. Peter, change the lens so I can see who it is."

"Now don't get excited. That's Margaret Rose and Vernice Bowling doing Eskimo Nursing service in Alaska."

"Well that's nice. Oh look I bumped the lens. But there is the New U.S. Liner, the Queen Mary, in the Pacific Ocean. Let's see who's on it."

"All right, let me look awhile. Frances Tayloe is sitting on the deck with a wealthy San Franciscan banker who is on a world cruise. She certainly has gotten nice patients. There comes someone along airily swinging a tennis racket. It's Mary Fowble taking a vacation. Look she stopped to talk. I wonder what they are saying. Can't you do something so I can hear their conversation?"

"Just listen closely, Soul, you'll hear."

"Hello, Frances, I'm on my vacation. You know I'm with the Navy. Mary Knoeller and her husband are on this boat. He has charge of the Medical Dept. That's why I came so I could see them."

"Quick, St. Peter, I must see more of my classmates. Just take it easy, Soul, I see a cute little home down there. Looks very cozy. Let's peep in. There's the former Charlotte Meyers reading the paper. See what she's so interested about - A flood in the Middle West. Let's run over there quick and see what's happening."

"Look Norma Johannes and Sue Connolly doing Red Cross Relief Work in that flood area." "Buzz, here comes an aeroplane with Fanny Smith, an air hostess. I'll bet she enjoys that, always said she would do that."

"Here we are back in West Virginia and there's Marion Heilman sprinkling ether on that patient's mask. Looking quiet and robust as usual. Isn't that Ruby Thompson observing. She must be specializing that patient. That reminds me Sophie Lubinski and Annabelle Magaha are specializing in Washington. There's also Dorris Lloyd teaching a group of Probes. Dosage and Solution."

"Look there's someone else isn't there?"

"Yes Margaret DeLawter; let me hear about her before I go."

"Surely, look around just a bit. Here's South America and there's Margaret, Superintendent of that new hospital. You know she worked mighty hard to get that hospital through but you know she would never give up until she saw it completed."

"Oh, St. Peter, I wished I had stayed in training. I may have been among them today." (A long sigh).

St. Peter smiled, "Ah, Soul!"

GENERAL PLAN OF INSTRUCTION

The course of instruction covers a period of three years.

FIRST YEAR

FIRST SEMESTER

The first year is divided into two periods: the first semester, or the preparatory period (6 months), and the second semester.

In the first semester, or preparatory term, the student is given practical instruction in the following:

I. The making of hospital and surgical supplies, the cost of hospital material, apparatus, and surgical instruments.

II. Household economics and preparation of foods particularly applied to invalid cooking and nutrition.

During this term the practical work is done under constant supervision, and teaching is given correlatively.

Excursions are made to filtration and sewerage plants, markets, hygienic dairies, linen rooms, laundry, and store room.

At the close of the first half of the first year the students are required to pass satisfactorily both the written and oral tests, and failure to do so will be sufficient reason for terminating the course at this point.

SUBSEQUENT COURSE

The course of instruction, in addition to the first semester, or the preparatory period, occupies two and one-half years, and students are not accepted for a shorter period, except in special instances.

After entering the wards, the students are constantly engaged in practical work under the immediate supervision and direction of the head nurses and instructors.

Throughout the three years, the student is in regular courses of instruction and lectures are given by members of the medical and nursing school faculties.

FIRST YEAR

SECOND SEMESTER

During this period the students receive theoretical instruction in Massage, General Surgery, Urinalysis and Laboratory Methods, Diet in Disease, and Advanced Nursing Procedures.

Practical instruction is received in the male and female, medical, surgical, and children's wards.

SECOND YEAR

During this period the theoretical instruction includes Pediatrics, General Medicine, Infectious Diseases, Obstetrics, Gynecology, Orthopedics, Skin and Venereal, Eye, Ear, Nose, and Throat, X-ray and Radium, and Dental. The practical work provides experience in the nursing of obstetrical and gynecological patients, in the operating rooms and the out-patient department.

THIRD YEAR

Theoretical instruction includes Psychiatry, Public Sanitation, Professional Problems, and Survey of the Nursing Field.

During this period the student receives short courses of lectures on subjects of special interest. These include a consideration of the work of institutions, of public and private charities, of settlements, and the various branches of professional work in nursing.

Experience is given in executive and administration work for those showing exceptional ability in the Third Year. With these students conferences are held on administration and teaching problems.

ATTENDANCE AT CLASSES: Attendance is required at all classes. Absences are excused by the Director of the School only in case of illness or absence from the school.

EXAMINATIONS: These are both written and oral, and include practical tests. The standing of the students is based upon the general character of work throughout the year, as well as upon the results of the examinations. Students must pass in all subjects before entering upon the work of the following year.

GRADUATION: The diploma of the school will be awarded to those who have completed satisfactorily the full term of three years and have passed successfully the final examinations.

SCHOLARSHIPS: One scholarship has been established by the Alumnae of the Training School, which entitles a nurse to a six-weeks course at Teachers College, Columbia University, New York. This scholarship is awarded at the close of the third year to the student whose work has been of the highest excellence, and who desires to pursue post-graduate study and special work. There are two scholarships of the value of $50.00 each, known as the Edwin and Leander M. Zimmerman and the Elizabeth Collins Lee prizes. An Alumnae Pin is presented by the Woman's Auxiliary Board to the student who at the completion of three years shows marked executive ability. A prize of $25.00 is given by Mrs. John L. Whitehurst to the student who at the completion of three years shows exceptional executive ability.

ROOM—UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL

DESCRIPTION OF COURSES

Anatomy—

Fifty hours of lectures, laboratory, and quizzes.

Gross Anatomy is studied with the aid of demonstration and dissection in the Department of Anatomy of the Medical School. The student is given an opportunity for dissection.

Physiology—

Thirty hours of lectures, laboratory, and quizzes.

The application of the general principles of physiology are studied with the aid of numerous physiological experiments which the students perform.

Chemistry—

Thirty hours of lectures and laboratory.

A course intended to introduce to the student scientific methods of technique, observation, and reasoning. It is built about the chemistry of everyday life, and developed by considering the vital relation of chemistry to the problems of physiology, pathology, and actual nursing.

Dietetics I—

Elementary Dietetics.

Twenty hours of lectures and classes.

This course deals with the composition and nutritive value of food and the principles of nutrition.

Dietetics II—

Cookery.

Twenty-eight hours of laboratory.

Instruction and practice in the principles of cooking followed by practice in the preparation of food and in the setting and serving of trays. Demonstrations, visits to the market, hygienic dairies, store rooms, and ice-plant co-ordinate the theoretical and practical work.

Dietetics III—

Diet in Disease.

Six hours of lectures and demonstrations.

In this course the principles of feeding in various diseases are discussed, diets formulated, food values computed, and practical experience afforded in calculating, planning, and serving of special diets.

Nursing I—

Elementary Nursing.

Forty hours of classroom demonstration and practice.

Forty-five hours of supervised ward practice.

This course consists of classes and demonstration of the principles and practice of elementary nursing technique. It includes visits into the hospital wards, where the actual procedures as demonstrated are applied. It also includes practice of two hours daily for two weeks in the hospital wards under supervision of the practical instructors.

Nursing II—

Elementary care of Infants and Children.

Twenty-four hours.

This course consists of classroom demonstrations and bedside teaching. The students are given instruction in the simple nursing procedures in the care of children, and practice this procedure in the Children's Ward under supervision.

Nursing III—

Bandaging.

Ten hours of demonstration and practice.

This course discusses the principles and technique of elementary bandaging, and includes practice in the application of the more common bandages.

Nursing IV—

Surgical Supplies and Sterilization.

This course includes practice in making surgical supplies, surgical technique, and method of sterilization, the cost of instruments, materials, and appliances used in the hospital.

Nursing V—

Advanced Nursing Procedures.

Twenty-four hours.

This course deals with advanced nursing treatments in both general nursing and care of children. The classroom instruction is supplemented by bedside clinics for the various wards, where treatments are demonstrated as applied to the patient.

Nursing VI—

Charting.

Four hours of classroom instruction.

Materia Medica I—

Dosage and Solution.

Fifteen hours of classes and demonstrations.

Practical problems in weight, measures, calculation in making solutions, methods of handling and preserving drugs, and the method of administration of common medicine.

Materia Medica II—

Materia Medica and Therapeutics.

Practical demonstration in the preparation of drugs in the hospital. The history of the more common drugs with their physiological and therapeutic actions and methods of administration; including the symptoms and treatment of poisoning by medical agents.

Bacteriology—

Fifteen hours of lectures and laboratory.

The general aspects of bacteriology with special emphasis on the relation of bacteria and protozoa to the production of disease.

Pathology I—

Four hours of lectures and demonstrations.

The opportunity is given for the student to become acquainted with the most conspicuous changes in the organs of the body as they are found in the commonest types of diseases. The diseases are discussed and followed by a demonstration of the pathological findings.

Pathology II—

Clinical Pathology.

Six hours of lectures and demonstrations.

Consideration of urine, feces, sputum, and blood in health and diseases. Simple tests for albumin, sugar, etc. It includes signification and methods of examination of stomach contents with special emphasis placed on the need for co-operation of the nurse in observation and collection of specimen.

Personal and Hospital Hygiene—

Fifteen hours of lectures, quizzes and demonstrations.

The proper methods of cleaning, ventilating, heating, and lighting the different departments of the hospital and the Nurses' Home. Consideration of the best means of preventing disease and of developing and maintaining a high degree of physical health. Special emphasis is put on the nurse's responsibility in regard to the hygiene of the patients and her teaching function as well as the responsibility for her own health.

History of Nursing—

Fifteen hours of lectures and discussions.

The origin of nursing and its development from ancient to modern times. The influence of outstanding teachers and the origin of various organizations related to nursing.

Ethics—

Fifteen hours of lectures and discussions.

A study of the principles of ethics as applied to personal and professional conduct. To give the student a motive for proper self-conduct in nursing.

Surgery—

General Surgery.

Thirty hours of lectures, quizzes, nursing class, and demonstrations.

The most important surgical diseases are presented by specialists. The nursing care correlates the theoretical instruction with the nursing technique and procedures. Operating room technique is demonstrated by having the students watch operations and their attention directed to the team work and the technique employed in various operations. In the lectures on anaesthesia the different kinds of anaesthetics employed are discussed, as well as the methods of administration. Special note is taken of the care of the patient before, during, and following the operation.

Surgical Specialities—

Orthopedics.

Nine hours of lectures and demonstrations.

Gynecology—

Six hours of lectures and classes.

Conducted in same way as in general surgical diseases.

Eye, Ear, Nose, and Throat—

Eight hours of lectures and classes.

GENERAL INFORMATION

The University of Maryland School for Nurses was established in the year 1889.

Since that time it has been an integral part of the University of Maryland, coming under the same government.

The school is non-sectarian, the only religious services being morning prayers.

The University of Maryland Hospital is a general hospital containing about 250 beds. It is equipped to give young women a thorough course of instruction and practice in all phases of nursing.

PROGRAMS OFFERED: The program of study of the school is planned for two groups of students: (a) the three-year group and (b) the five-year group.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION: A candidate for admission to the School of Nursing must be a graduate of an accredited high school or other recognized preparatory school, and must present record showing that she has completed satisfactorily the required amount of preparatory study. Preference will be given to students who rank in the upper third of the graduating class in their preparatory schools.

Candidates are required to present 15 units for entrance. Required (7), and Elective (8) units for entrance.

Required: English (I, II, III, IV), 3 units; algebra to quadratics, 1 unit; plane geometry, 1 unit; history, 1 unit; science, 1 unit. Total, 7 units.

Elective: Astronomy, biology, botany, chemistry, civics, drawing, economics, general science, geology, history, home economics, vocational subjects, languages, mathematics, physical geography, physics, zoology, or any other subject offered in a standard high school or preparatory school for which graduation credit is granted toward college or university entrance. Eight units must be submitted from this group, of which not more than four units can pertain to vocational subjects.

In addition to the above requirements, students must meet certain other definite requirements in regard to health, age and personal fitness for nursing work.

The preferable age for students registering for the three-year course is 20 to 35 years, although students may be accepted at the age of 18. Women of superior education and culture are given preference, provided they meet the requirements in other particulars. If possible a personal interview with the Director of the School should be arranged on Tuesday or Friday from 11:00 A.M. to 12:00 M.

Blank certificates will be furnished upon application to the Director of the School of Nursing, University of Maryland Hospital, Baltimore, Maryland.

REGISTRATION WITH MARYLAND STATE BOARD OF EXAMINERS OF NURSES: By regulation of the Maryland State Board of Examiners of Nurses, all students entering schools of nursing in Maryland must, at the beginning of their course, register with the Board in order to be eligible for examination and license on completion of this course. Blanks necessary for this purpose will be sent with application forms. A fee of $2 is charged for registration.

The fitness of the applicant for the work and the propriety of dismissing or retaining her at the end of her term of probation are left to the decision of the Director of the School. Misconduct, disobedience, insubordination, inefficiency, and neglect of duty are causes for dismissal at any time by the President of the University.

The requirements for admission to the five-year program of the School of Nursing are the same as for other colleges. (Special catalog will be sent upon request.) The three-year program is designed to meet the requirements for the diploma in Nursing and comprises the work of the first, second, and third hospital years.

ADMISSION TO THE SCHOOL: Students for the spring term are admitted in February and those for the fall term in September or October, and the five-year course in September.

HOURS OF DUTY: During the preparatory period the students are engaged in class work for the first four months with no general duty in the hospital, and for the remainder of this period they are sent to the wards on eight-hour duty. During the first, second, and third years the students are on eight-hour day duty and nine-hour night duty with six hours on holidays and Sundays. The night-duty periods are approximately two months each with one day at the termination of each term for rest and recreation. The period of night duty is approximately five to six months during the three years.

The first four months of the preparatory period are devoted to theoretical instruction given entirely in the lecture and demonstration rooms of the training school, hospital, and medical school laboratories. The average number of hours per week in formal instruction, divided into lecture and laboratory periods, is 30 hours and includes courses in Anatomy, Physiology, Cookery and Nutrition, Dosage and Solution, Hygiene, Bacteriology, Chemistry, Materia Medica, Practical Nursing, Bandaging, Ethics, and History of Nursing. During the last two months of the probation period the students are placed on duty in the hospital wards for instruction in bedside nursing, and are expected to perform the duties assigned to them by the Director of the School. At the close of the first semester the students are required to pass satisfactorily both the written and practical tests; failure to do so will be sufficient reason for terminating the course at this point.

SICKNESS: A physician is in attendance each day, and when ill all students are cared for gratuitously. The time lost through illness in excess of two weeks, during the three years, must be made up. Should the authorities of the school decide that through the time lost the theoretical work has not been sufficiently covered to permit the student to continue in that year, it will be necessary for her to continue her work with the next class.

VACATIONS: Vacations are given between June and September. A period of four weeks is allowed the student at the completion of the first year, and second year.

EXPENSES: A fee of $50.00, payable on entrance, is required from all students. This will not be returned. A student receives her board, lodging, and a reasonable amount of laundry from the date of entrance. During her period of probation she provides her own uniforms, obtained through the hospital at a nominal cost. After being accepted as a student nurse she wears the uniform supplied by the hospital. The student is also provided with text-books and shoes. Her personal expenses during the course of training and instruction will depend entirely upon her individual habits and tastes.

RECEPTION ROOM—NURSES' HOME

Medicine I—

General Medicine and Infectious Diseases.

Thirty-two hours of lectures, quizzes, and nursing classes.

The most important medical diseases are presented and studied. The histories and clinical findings, signs, and symptoms are discussed and treatment outlined. The nursing classes present the nursing care of patients with emphasis on special treatment connected with the nursing care and the importance of observation of signs and symptoms.

Medicine II—

Skin and Venereal Diseases.

Tuberculosis.

X-ray Therapy.

Dental.

Fifteen hours.

Each of these subjects is discussed by specialists from the departments of the Medical School.

Massage—

Twelve hours of lectures, demonstration and practice.

The history of massage, its physiological effect and therapeutic application.

Pediatrics—

Twenty-two hours of lectures, quizzes, and nursing classes.

Consideration of the growth, development, and nutrition of the normal child, as well as the medical diseases of children, including the acute infectious diseases.

Obstetrics—

Twenty-two hours of lectures, quizzes and nursing classes.

Consideration of normal pregnancy, labor, puerperium, including obstetrical emergencies and problems. The nursing care of the mother and child, the conduct of a normal delivery and the care of the new-born infant are demonstrated. The lectures are illustrated by the use of projecting lantern.

Psychiatry and Neurological Nursing—

Eighteen hours of lectures.

Discussion and demonstration of the various types of mental diseases and the principle of psychology, mental hygiene, and psychiatric social work.

Public Health and Sanitation—

Fifteen hours of lectures.

This course is given by the city Department of Public Health and provides lecturers from all the departments of the public health service, and specialists from the School of Hygiene and the Department of Engineering of the Johns Hopkins University. The lectures are illustrated by the use of projecting lantern and by visits to various departments.

Survey of Nursing Field—

Fifteen hours.

Lecturers from special fields.

Designed to familiarize the students with the different fields of nursing.

Professional Problems—

Six hours.

To anticipate some of the problems which will confront the students after graduation.

FIVE-YEAR PROGRAM

In addition to the regular three-year course of training, the University offers a combined Academic and Nursing program leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science and a Diploma in Nursing.

The first two years of the course (or pre-hospital period), consisting of 68 semester hours, are spent in the College of Arts and Sciences of the University, during which period the student has an introduction to the general cultural subjects which are considered fundamental in any college training. At least the latter of these two years must be spent in residence at College Park, in order that the student may have her share in the social and cultural activities of college life. The last three years are spent in the School of Nursing in Baltimore.

DEGREE AND DIPLOMA

The degree of Bachelor of Science and the Diploma in Nursing are awarded to students who complete successfully the prescribed combined academic and nursing program.
